Recent archaeological trial trench evaluation has taken place on the other side of Fen Road. This revealed a focus of early medieval activity to the north, and trenches at this southern end only producing a single undated ditch. Several sherds of Roman pottery have been previously found on the east side of Fen Road around 200m away, but based on the recent evaluation there is nothing to indicate a focus of Roman activity here rather than a casual loss.

Therefore we would recommend that no archaeological input be required in association with this application.
