Our records indicate that the application area forms part of a landfill. Further information is required prior to determination in order to ensure a safe development. This would normally take the form of a desk study, and potentially some site investigation to determine the presence/ absence of fill material below the development.

The area indicated to be landfill is significantly larger than the application area, and it may be that the applicant has information already which would assist. There are also other landfills within 250m.

I believe that a planning history may assist at this location.

If the applicant does not wish to provide this, then I will need to object to the proposal.
