We know the appearance of your home is very important to you

So when considering replacement windows, you need to be sure that they will look just right and complement the style of your home.

Casement Windows

As far as we are concerned, the days of chunky plastic windows have gone. Our 70mm range offers some of the slimmest, best looking casement windows available, in white, warm mahogany or golden oak woodgrain finish, to suit your house.

Casements are outward opening windows which may be a combination of fixed, top hung or side hung lights.
We offer a large number of different styles, including bay and bow windows, to ensure that we can meet your requirement.

Decorative sash horns can be added to provide the authentic appearance of a box sash window and arched head inserts are also available for the cottage style window.

Our casement windows are internally beaded, which means that the glazing beads holding the glass in place are situated on the inside of the window, thus offering you maximum security.

Internally beaded windows manufactured using the S706 profile to REHAU specifications have achieved BS 7950 type test certification, the most stringent British Standard relevant to the security of replacement windows.
