Once fitted, your windows will be with you for many years to come. So make sure you choose correctly and don't let yourself be rushed into buying until you're ready. To assist you in this regard, we have designed this checklist to help you reach those all-important decisions.

Checklist

Remember...	Questions to ask...	Our reminders...
Location:	Where is the fabricator/installer based?	It's often best to choose a local company whose reputation depends on maintaining high quality.
References:	Can the fabricator/installer put you in touch with satisfied customers?	Take up a reference or two to ensure the quality of the work matches the sales talk.
Materials:	From which systems manufacturer does the fabricator/installer buy his profile from?	Make sure the systems all meet or exceed the necessary British Standards, like REHAU systems.
Guarantees:	A quality window should be guaranteed for at least 10 years.	Our windows are all covered by a 10 year guarantee.
Range:	How many window styles and finishes are available? Choice is vital as windows should match architecture, while reflecting an owner's individual style.	We can offer a large number of styles and finishes.
Security:	Consider the security needs. Ask if the installer can provide adequate window locking systems.	REHAU designs its profiles with security in mind. We can recommend suitable window locking systems.
