

Design and Access Statement

The scale of development and nature of the site means that a Design and Access Statement is not required.