CASE OFFICER ASSESSMENT

Proposal

The application seeks consent for a lawful development certificate for the occupation of a dwelling in breach of condition 1 of planning permission H11-0157-68. The condition restricts the occupation of the dwelling at 71 Wisbech Road, to someone employed or last employed in agriculture, or their dependents or widow/widower.

The application is submitted under Section 191 of the Town and Country Planning Act (1990) (as amended).

Site Description

The application site comprises land at 71 Wisbech Road which features a detached single storey bungalow and its associated driveway and garden space. The site is located to the west of Wisbech Road between two dwellings (69 and 73 Wisbech Road). There is agricultural land to the west of the site.

Planning History

H11-0157-68: (Full Planning Application) - The description of development for the application is unclear as the scanned version of the decision notice contains missing words that have not been scanned clearly; however, it appears that the development was for one dwelling - approved 13 June 1968

Consultation

There is no statutory obligation for the local planning authority (LPA) to publicise an application for a certificate of lawful development; however, a site notice has been displayed next to the site for 21 days. No representations from members of the public have been received during the consultation period.

Key Planning Considerations

Relevant Legislation

Section 191 of the Town and Country Planning Act (TCPA) (1990) (as amended) - sets out the following:

"(2) For the purposes of this Act uses and operations are lawful at any time if:

- (a) no enforcement action may then be taken in respect of them (whether because they did not involve development or require planning permission or because the time for enforcement action has expired or for any other reason); and

(b) they do not constitute a contravention of any of the requirements of any enforcement notice then in force."

Section 191(4) further sets out that:

"(4) If, on an application under this section, the local planning authority is provided with information satisfying them of the lawfulness at the time of the application of the use, operations or other matter described in the application, or that description as modified by the local planning authority or a description substituted by them, they shall issue a certificate to that effect; and in any other case they shall refuse the application."

National Planning Practice Guidance clarifies that it is the responsibility of the applicant to provide sufficient information to support the application (Paragraph 006 Reference ID: 17c-006-20140306). The evidence provided needs to be sufficiently precise and unambiguous to justify the grant of a certificate on the balance of probability rather than beyond reasonable doubt.

Section 171B(3) of the TCPA further sets out the following:

"(1) Where there has been a breach of planning control consisting in the carrying out without planning permission of building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of:

(a) in the case of a breach of planning control in England, ten years beginning with the date on which the operations were substantially completed."

Assessment of Evidence

Condition 1 of planning permission H11-0157-68 states the following:

"The occupation of the dwelling shall be limited to persons employed, or last employed, legally in agriculture as defined in Section 221(1) of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1988, or forestry, or a dependent of such a person residing within (but including a widow or widower of such a person)."

Reason

This building is sited in an area in which buildings, other than those connected with an agricultural need, would not be permitted."

In this case, it needs to be demonstrated that the condition has been breached for more than 10 years as this is the basis on which the application has been submitted. As set out above, if the condition has been breached for more than 10 years, then the LPA would not be able to enforce against any ongoing breach of the condition as the time for enforcement action would have passed.

The application is accompanied by a supporting statement that has been submitted on behalf of the current owners of the site. According to the submitted statement, the current owners of the site bought the property on 30th October 2015. The owners have lived within the site since this time and have not been employed in agriculture during this period of time, nor prior to 2015.

Additional information has been appended to the supporting statement showing further evidence of the owners' employment history. This evidence appears to indicate that the owners have not been employed in agriculture.

Planning guidance clearly sets out the following (Paragraph: 006 Reference ID: 17c-006-20140306):

"...if a local planning authority has no evidence itself, nor any from others, to contradict or otherwise make the applicant's version of events less than probable, there is no good reason to refuse the application..."

In this case, the LPA has no evidence itself or from others that suggests the applicants have been employed in agriculture.

As the applicants moved to the site in October 2015 and the application is currently subject to determination in May 2026, this covers a period of at least 10 years. As such, it is considered that on the balance of probability the site has been occupied in breach of the relevant condition for at least the past 10 years.

Additional Considerations

Public Sector Equality Duty

In making this decision the Authority must have regard to the public sector equality duty (PSED) under s.149 of the Equalities Act. This means that the Council must have due regard to the need (in discharging its functions) to:

A. Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation and other conduct prohibited by the Act.

B. Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not. This may include removing or minimising disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are connected to that characteristic; taking steps to meet the special needs of those with a protected characteristic; encouraging participation in public life (or other areas where they are underrepresented) of people with a protected characteristic(s).

C. Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not including tackling prejudice and promoting understanding.

The protected characteristics are age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

The PSED must be considered as a relevant factor in making this decision but does not impose a duty to achieve the outcomes in s.149. It is only one factor that needs to be considered, and may be balanced against other relevant factors.

It is not considered that the recommendation in this case will have a disproportionately adverse impact on a protected characteristic.

Human Rights

In making a decision, the Authority should be aware of and take into account any implications that may arise from the Human Rights Act 1998. Under the Act, it is unlawful for a public authority such as South Holland District Council to act in a manner that is incompatible with the European Convention on Human Rights. The Authority is referred specifically to Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) and Article 1 of the First Protocol (protection of property).

It is not considered that the recommendation in this case interferes with local residents' right to respect for their private and family life, home and correspondence, except insofar as it is necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others (in this case, the rights of the applicant). The Council is also permitted to control the use of property in accordance with the general public interest and the recommendation is considered to be a proportionate response to the submitted application based on the considerations set out in this report.

Conclusion

It is considered that on the balance of probability, the site has been occupied by persons not employed in agriculture for at least the past 10 years. As such, the LPA would not be able to pursue enforcement action against the relevant breaches and it follows that the certificate of lawfulness should be granted on this basis.

Recommendation

It is recommended that a certificate of lawfulness can be issued under S191 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1990.
