Chris,

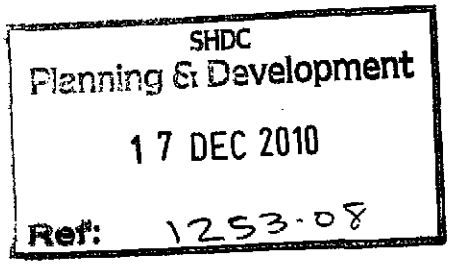

Further to you recent discussion with Jerry and in consideration of the points raised please find attached:

1.0 Unique Features_dated 17th December 2010 and including boundary treatment item 5.0

2.0 Drawing 627.PB.02_B updated to show acoustic fence at 3m and increased specification / acoustic performance – 'Jakoustic Plus Highway' specified instead of previous 'Jakoustic' fencing product. The revised specification has added absorption material [Rockwool] and meets Highways Agency standards BS EN 1793-1:1998, BS EN 1794-1 and 2 (rated B3 for insulation as before, but additionally now also rated A3 for absorption). The drawing also notes the addition of timber trellis to the dwelling side of the acoustic fence in order to conceal the absorption material and its protective membrane which might otherwise look unsightly.

For your information a copy of the Jackson Fencing brochure relating to the barrier is also attached.

Regards
