The proposed change of use affects historic parkland as shown on the 1st edition 6" and 2nd edition 25" Ordnance Survey County Series maps, associated with Park House at its northern end. The parkland also contains preserved earthworks of ridge and furrow cultivation, which is a rare survival in a largely arable landscape and reflects the historic use of the land before the park was established.

As such both the setting of the park and its archaeological remains are highly significant to the local area and the district as a whole.
The current proposal to create a picnic area through the erection of a stock fence will not have a significant effect on either the understanding and interpretation of the park and surrounding assets, nor will the proposed vehicular access and gate represent a significant impact on the archaeological remains.

I therefore have no objection on archaeological grounds to the proposals.
