CASE OFFICER ASSESSMENT

Proposal

Conversion of existing barns into 2 dwellings - re-submission of H15-1183-19.

The application has been submitted to facilitate approval of the details required to be discharged regarding contamination, the submission of a building survey, and the addition of external works, specifically increases to patios, and the siting of bin stores and oil tanks.

Site Description

The proposal is outside of defined settlement limits and the surrounding area is predominately rural, characterised by buildings of varying ages and designs. The current use of the site is agricultural and is in Flood Zone 1.

The barns in question are constructed of brick and pantile, and have traditional openings. There is a timber lean-to that would be removed.

The site has no adjoining residential neighbours save for the primary dwelling on the site.

History

Consultation Responses

Quadrang Parish Council

No response received.

SHDC Environmental Protection

Has reviewed the LANGDALE-SMITH and Co Limited report '66-026 Ground Contamination Investigation & Assessment - Phase 1 Desk Study' and recommend parts ii-iv of the standard land contamination condition be applied at this location.

LCC Highways & SUDS Support

No observations to make.

Having given due regard to the appropriate local and national planning policy guidance (in particular the National Planning Policy Framework), Lincolnshire County Council (as Highway Authority and Lead Local Flood Authority) has concluded that the proposed conversion of these barns into dwellings would not be expected to have an unacceptable impact upon highway safety and therefore, does not wish to object to this planning application.

Planning Considerations

Principle of use and conversion

The principle of the conversion of these barns has been accepted by the grant of planning permission H15-1183-19 which is still extant.

Policy 23: Reuse of Buildings in the Countryside for Residential Use, sets out

Proposals for the conversion of existing buildings which are located outside defined settlement boundaries to residential use will be permitted provided that:

- 1. the building is structurally sound and capable of conversion without the need for significant extension, alteration or rebuilding;*
- 2. the building is of architectural or historic merit or makes a positive contribution to the character of the landscape, to justify conversion to ensure retention;*
- 3. the proposal is in keeping with its surroundings;*
- 4. the design is sympathetic to the character and appearance of the building in terms of architectural detailing and materials of construction; and*
- 5. development leads to an enhancement of the immediate setting of the building.*

Where permission is granted, Permitted Development Rights may be removed in order to control future alterations or extensions that may impact on the appearance and character of the surrounding area.

The buildings in question are attractive and substantial in nature and structural evidence suggests that conversion is possible.

The conversion details are considered to be acceptable and the retention of the buildings in an improved form would be an enhancement of the immediate setting of the buildings.

The proposal is therefore policy compliant.

It is recommended that the permitted development rights are removed via conditions, to prevent alterations and domestic paraphernalia.

Visual Impact

This is set out above; the retention of the buildings in an improved form would be an enhancement of the immediate setting of the buildings

Land contamination

The Council's Environmental Protection Officer has suggested a further condition. The resultant details and acceptability will be dealt with at that time.

Wildlife

A survey was previously submitted and is considered to be acceptable and a condition to ensure compliance is suggested. The survey has been resubmitted to support this application and forms part of the application submission.

Highway matters

The conversion and use of these barns would not have a detrimental impact on highway or pedestrian safety.

LCC Highway officers raise no objection to the proposals.

Residential amenity

The site has no adjoining residential neighbours save for the primary dwelling on the site.

Planning Balance

The principle has been established by the previous grant of planning permission. The details submitted are acceptable and thus the planning balance lies in favour of the proposal,

Conclusion

In the light of the above it is considered that the proposal would lead to an acceptable and policy compliant conversion of these barns to two dwellings.

Additional Considerations

Public Sector Equality Duty

In making this decision the Authority must have regard to the public sector equality duty (PSED) under s.149 of the Equalities Act. This means that the Council must have due regard to the need (in discharging its functions) to:

A. Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation and other conduct prohibited by the Act

B. Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not. This may include removing or minimising disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are connected to that characteristic; taking steps to meet the special needs of those with a protected characteristic; encouraging participation in public life (or other areas where they are underrepresented) of people with a protected characteristic(s).

C. Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not including tackling prejudice and promoting understanding.

The protected characteristics are age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

The PSED must be considered as a relevant factor in making this decision but does not impose a duty to achieve the outcomes in s.149. It is only one factor that needs to be considered, and may be balanced against other relevant factors.

It is not considered that the recommendation in this case will have a disproportionately adverse impact on a protected characteristic.

Human Rights

In making a decision, the Authority should be aware of and take into account any implications that may arise from the Human Rights Act 1998. Under the Act, it is unlawful for a public authority such as South Holland District Council to act in a manner that is incompatible with the European Convention on Human Rights. The Authority is referred specifically to Article 8 (right to respect for private and family life) and Article 1 of the First Protocol (protection of property).

It is not considered that the recommendation in this case interferes with local residents' right to respect for their private and family life, home and correspondence, except insofar as it is necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others (in this case, the rights of the applicant). The Council is also permitted to control the use of property in accordance with the general public interest and the recommendation is considered to be a proportionate response to the submitted application based on the considerations set out in this report.
