On my visit to Hawthorn Farm to investigate a leaking roof to find the lady has had several repairs done, by different roofers. I found the tiles very old and porous, many have shaling this is letting water ingress through the roof. Which is leading to damage to the plaster and ceilings in the house. I feel the only way to solve this ongoing issue is to replace the roof with new pantiles and ridges. Enclosed is a picture of the tiles I would recommend using, as we have used these on similar style houses. Also they are still pantiles so would be in keeping with what was on the roof before.

If I can be of anymore help please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Many thanks
