Roofline and trims

Modern developments in the production and design of PVC-U mean its superb qualities of durability, low maintenance and good looks need not be limited to windows, doors and conservatories.

PVC-U to the roofline and beyond

The roofline timber may not be a part of your home that earns a lot of thought but it could be a lot of trouble if it is not properly and regularly maintained. PVC-U to the rescue.

maintenance freelifestyle

Roofline & Trims

An extensive range of PVC-U roofline products mean you can install them then forget them for years to come.

That same quality and versatility is also applied to exterior house cladding as well as interior features such as window cills. Don't forget too that many trim products are available in the same range of woodgrain finishes as our windows, doors and conservatories.