

Windows & Doors

More and more people are learning how to let in the light

Think of a way to improve your home that enhances its looks, weather-resistance and security - and increase its value all at the same time.

Then you are thinking of superior quality windows, doors and conservatories installed by a company you can trust, using only PVC-U materials from a world beating manufacturer - VEKA

In an industry where quality and integrity cannot always be taken for granted, it is reassuring to know that you are choosing materials that are already in use in many of the worlds biggest and most prestigious construction projects and carry a name that earns the highest respect wherever technical excellence is valued.

With every frame manufactured from individual measurements, the installation can be carried out with the very minimum of mess, disruption or problems - and all in a much shorter time than you might imagine.

So all you need to do is relax, sit back and start enjoying the benefits of your new purchase.

- Available in white, a choice of woodgrain finishes or a combination of white and woodgrain.
- Options of sculptured or bevelled sashes and glazing beads.
