This site falls within an area of cropmarks which are thought to date to the Romano-British period. Any development in this area could disturb archaeological finds and features relating to this or later periods. I think the most appropriate way to secure the archaeological resource on this site is to preserve it by record.

Therefore given this it is recommended that the developer should be required to commission a Scheme of Archaeological Works (on the lines of 4.8.1 in the Lincolnshire Archaeological Handbook (2016)). This should be secured by South Holland District Councils Standard Conditions AR01, 02 and 03.

'They [The local planning authority] should .... require developers to record and advance understanding of the significance of any heritage assets to be lost (wholly or in part), in a manner proportionate to their importance and the impact, and to make this evidence (and any archive generated) publically accessible' National Planning Policy Framework Section 12, para 141.

Initially I envisage that this would involve monitoring of all groundwork's, with the ability to stop and fully record archaeological features
