An aerial photograph showing the archaeological site of the Roman fort of Vindonissa. The central feature is a large, rectangular stone foundation of the fort's walls, surrounded by a trench. To the left of the fort are several modern buildings, including a large industrial-style building with a corrugated metal roof and a smaller building with a white roof. To the right of the fort is a large, open field. The foreground shows a road and some trees. The background consists of a vast, flat landscape, likely a river valley.
